Made this layout from a picture my niece Nichole took while she is in Arizona. She started her road trip in the first week in February. She started here in PA, she went south to Key West, from there she's headed west towards California. She's currently in Arizona (pics are amazing, on my list of places to visit), next is Vegas then CA. She is an amazing photographer "one of her loves" and she has taken a million beautiful pic's... so started my need to scrapbook them for her. It's ironic that this Southwest cartridge comes out during her trip... guess it was meant to be, lol!
